

The Product Surgery on Monday 23rd September Infection Prevention Show #IP2019

As part of the Infection Prevention Show, we are offering HCAI-related companies the chance to take part in an expert-led Product Surgery.

Our experts John Cooper and Nicola Harrington will be offering private sessions in which they will provide constructive feedback and advice on infection prevention and control products, helping you better tailor your market offering for the HCAI audience.

Surgery slots will be 30 minutes long and are available between 9am and 4:30pm

These slots will be free of charge to any commercial organisation with HCAI-related products that are attending the Infection Prevention Show, however we will require that you book your slot ahead of time.

Meet the Experts

Our Product Surgery will be led by John Cooper and Nicola Harrington, who both have a wealth of experience working with Infection Prevention Supply Chains. Both will be available to discuss matters concerning the vast changes taking place in the NHS procurement landscape along with any other associated issues in relation to product development, placement and NHS access opportunities.

John Cooper

*Former Chief Executive of the NHS
Purchase and Supply Agency*

Nicola Harrington

*Procurement Director of the NHS
Supply Chain (operated by DHL)*
